Family Law Pathways Network presents:

Managing High Conflict People

By Global Professional Development

Ocean International, Mackay QLD

Tuesday 8th December 2020

9:00am - 4:00pm

Cost: $40 per person

To REGISTER email amandashipp@centacarecq.com

People experiencing Family Law matters are trying to manage the stresses and high emotions associated with:

- Relationship breakdown / Family breakdown
- Separation / Divorce
- Post Separation parenting decisions
- Property / Asset division and financial matters

They are all experiencing major life changes, major losses, and varying degrees of conflict. Lawyers, FDRPs, therapists, counsellors, social workers, psychologists, and other practitioners who work with people during this stressful time need to be skilled in relationship transitioning; managing communication and negotiation between the parties; managing the resolution of their conflicts and are increasingly being confronted with managing parties engaged in what we term 'high conflict'; that is, high conflict people.

The aims of this workshop are to assist practitioners from a varying range of disciplines to:

- Understand 'normal' conflict and how this is different to 'high' conflict and how this impacts our work and our roles
  - Understand the emotional and behavioural reactions of High Conflict People, why they are behaving as they do and why our normal professional skills seem insufficient in managing them
  - Understand how to differentiate family domestic violence to identify the power and control dynamics in these relationships and how these need to be managed
  - Learn additional skills to manage High Conflict People to enhance our skill set
  - Understand how working with high conflict people affects us and what self- protection strategies could assist our self-care

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

- » Acquire the skills and knowledge to appropriately identify adolescent-to-parent violence and support families where there is adolescent violence at home.
- » Explore adolescent-to-parent violence and the links between adolescent violence and trauma.
- » Discover core aspects of attachment and the initial stages of case planning support for families experiencing adolescent-to-parent violence
- » Gain a comprehensive understanding of how to assist clients to create sustained safety within the house
- » Explore activities parents and carers can use to support young people and plan for the family's future.

WHO SHOULD PARTICIPATE?

This course has been developed for front-line practitioners in a range of sectors including family support, disability, mental health, housing and counselling services. The course will cover both the theory behind adolescent-to-parent violence and the practical skills needed to create a safe and effective case plan.

HOW WILL I LEARN?

This short course is offered in a 'hyperflexible' learning environment. You can access the materials anytime, anywhere on any device.
